BOMA SAN FRANCISCO APPOINTS NEW BOARD MEMBERS

San Francisco, CA – The Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) of San Francisco announced today that it has named Tim Ballas, Mark Geisreiter, David Jaber and Gary Faleschini to its Board of Directors. As members of the Board, each will be directly involved in setting BOMA San Francisco's strategic direction and oversight of its membership-service initiatives.

Tim Ballas serves as managing director for the San Francisco Bay Area offices of CB Richard Ellis, overseeing Asset Services operations for the company. He joined CB Richard Ellis in mid-2003 with the company's acquisition of Insignia/ESG. Before joining Insignia, Mr. Ballas was Vice President for Transwestern Property Company in San Francisco. Previously, he spent 10 years with Cushman & Wakefield as a portfolio manager, supervising large, institutional properties.

Mark Geisreiter is a senior vice president for Equity Office Properties Trust, the nation's largest office building owner and manager and the largest real estate investment trust (REIT) in the United States. He oversees leasing, property management, acquisition and disposition activities, and he is responsible for the overall financial performance of Equity Office's 141 local properties. Mr. Geisreiter previously served the company as managing director of leasing for Equity Office Properties' San Francisco-area portfolio. Prior to joining Equity Office Properties, he served for 11 years as first vice president for office leasing at Coldwell Banker Commercial.

David Jaber is a senior vice president and regional property manager for Shorenstein Realty Services, where he is responsible for managing Shorenstein's Northern California properties, totaling 6 million square feet. David rejoined Shorenstein in May 2005, after serving as a senior vice president for PM Realty Group, where he was responsible for managing 8 million square feet of commercial property in Northern California.

Gary Faleschini is president of August Supply, Inc., a Northern California janitorial supply distributor serving the commercial real estate and facility market. Throughout much of his 28-year sales and management career, Mr. Faleschini has been actively involved in both Oakland/East Bay BOMA, as well as BOMA San Francisco. Last year, he was the recipient of BOMA San Francisco's Associate Member of the Year award. Gary began his career in the semiconductor industry, before moving to PEMSCO, a janitorial supply distributor. He joined August Supply, Inc., in 1987.
