TOP COMMERCIAL RECYCLERS TO BE HONORED WITH DINNER AND FASHION SHOW AT THE “DUMP”

WHAT: In a gesture that could be viewed as only fitting, San Francisco's top commercial office recyclers will be rewarded for their efforts with a dinner and fashion show at the dump. This Wednesday, June 21, the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) of San Francisco hosts the First Annual Commercial Office Recycler of the Year (CORY) Awards, which recognize building owners and managers who have achieved significant results in reducing solid waste and whose leadership, policies and programs demonstrate a commitment to recycling. As part of the event, guests will be treated to a fashion show by “Bubblevescent,” creator of playful clothing fashioned from discarded materials such as bubble wrap, shrink-wrap, paper, CD-ROMs and floppy disks.

WHEN &

WHERE: Wednesday, June 21 @ 5:30 p.m. For the benefit of those with discerning olfactory palates, the event will be held at Fiore Hall, Golden Gate Disposal and Recycling Company, 900 Seventh Street, San Francisco.

WHY: California AB 939 mandates a 50 percent reduction of waste that is landfilled by year-end 2000. BOMA and its Solid Waste and Recycling Task Force created the CORYs as a way to provide the local business community innovative examples of effective recycling programs – and thereby encourage businesses to emulate CORY winners. In doing so, BOMA helps to ensure voluntary compliance with AB 939.

THE

WINNERS: By category, the winners are: SMG, The Moscone Center - Best Mixed Use Building; State Compensation Insurance Fund, 1275 Market Street - Best Single Tenant Building; PM Realty, 500 Sansome Street - Best Small Office Building; and Danielson Whitehead, Inc., 100 Pine Street - Best Large Office Building.
